Dear Supporter,

THANK YOU!

This Christmas Jumper Day millions of people just like you pulled on a festive sweater to help create a brighter future for children. Schools, workplaces and homes across the country were resplendent with the brightest, funniest, craziest jumpers the world has ever seen.

And as far as we're aware, the big day passed entirely free from wool-related accidents!

You played your part – wearing your woollies responsibly and raising a tree-mendous £63.80 for children – helping to bring essential food, healthcare, education and protection to children around the world who are missing out. That money is already making a massive difference. Just £2 of it could pay for antibiotics to treat five children with pneumonia, one of the biggest killers of children. Thank you so much.

I've enclosed a certificate in recognition of your fantastic fundraising. Your donation could help pay for a blanket and hat to keep a newborn baby warm. Or buy a thermometer to help a community health worker detect sickness in young children early. The total shown may not yet include all of your donations – apologies if not. The elves at Jumper HQ have many strengths (a talent for Christmas puns among them!), but counting not so much...

If you'd like a new certificate with a more up-to-date total then please email us at christmasjumper@savethechildren.org.uk or you can download one online at christmasjumperday.org/fundraising-pack

I hope you had yourself a merry little Christmas Jumper Day and thank you for making the world better with a sweater. See you next year!

Woolly wishes,

Brea
